

Holidays – and then?

Important information for people returning from Corona risk areas

Summer time is holiday time – but in times of the worldwide corona pandemic, there are some things to consider. The state of Baden-Württemberg has imposed a notification obligation and a 14-day quarantine obligation for all travellers returning from risk areas. An up-to-date list of risk areas is published on the website of the Baden-Württemberg Ministry of Social Affairs:

www.sozialministerium.baden-wuerttemberg.de

The city of Heidelberg therefore urgently asks you to take note of the following:

- Before you go on holiday, check whether your holiday country or holiday region is a risk area affected by the coronavirus.
- Before you return home, also check whether your holiday country or holiday region has been declared a risk area while you were there.

If you have been in a risk area for more than 48 hours:

- Go directly home and stay there in quarantine for 14 days. Do not go to your workplace outside your own home. Children who have been in a risk area are not allowed in day-care centres or in school.
- Immediately inform the regulatory authority of the city of Heidelberg (phone: 06221 58-17777; e-mail: corona.ordnungsamt@heidelberg.de) about your entry from a risk area.
- If you experience typical symptoms of coronavirus disease, contact the telephone hotline of the public health department at 06221 522 1881.

All provisions for returning travellers are regulated by the Corona Entry Quarantine Regulation (CoronaVO EQ) of the State of Baden-Württemberg:
